“ James,

It has been 2 weeks today and our family misses you so much, I miss our pizza sharing and you asking me to steal a pepsi, also making baked zita for you I hope you miss us as much as we miss seeing you. Until we meet again nothing can feel our void of your smiling face and helpful hands. I hope you are a peace and will be doing all the fun things you use to do with us.

“ To our dear neighbors, we are so sorry for your loss. We are still in shock of the news and can't believe it. I remember the first day I officially met James in my backyard while I was cooking on the grill...James said "smells good!" and I said, "thanks, want one." he shrugged and said sure. This was the start of our friendship. James was such a great kid. My girls, wife, and I wish we could be back in NY today to say goodbye, but know we will always have you and James in our hearts. Missing you from South Carolina. Jon Lindbom

“ I dont have words for how sad this makes me, I loved him he was one of the greatest people I ever knew. I spent countless hours at your house with him. He was my first kiss and a long time best friend. we hung out in college but life took us on different paths. I always loved him though and I always will. No amount of blessing will help the pain you feel. Im so sorry. he will be forever missed. the last time i saw him i hugged him and told him he was one of the best men I ever knew.
